

HISTORY

- Professor Neena B. Schwartz founded the Program for Reproductive Research in 1974
- The CRS has a rich history that has served to keep the reproductive science and medicine community at NU visible, viable, and valuable for decades

MEMBERS

- Over 200 faculty, 50 staff members, and 100 trainees from 17 disciplines
- Advisory Board, Affiliate Members from 5 Local Universities, and a Large Network of Alumni

LEADERSHIP

Director:
Teresa K. Woodruff, PhD

Executive Director:
Francesca E. Duncan, PhD

Director of Graduate Studies, MS-RSM:
Beth Sefton, PhD

Lecturer, MS-RSM:
Pamela Monahan, PhD

Program Assistant:
Chelsea Castleberry

Center for Reproductive Science

At the forefront of reproductive research, medicine and technology

The Center for Reproductive Science aims to enhance and enable research in reproductive science and medicine across disciplines, to apply state-of-the-art research and technologies to human reproductive health, and to train the next generation of research, clinical, and thought leaders in our field.

RESEARCH

- Male and Female Reproductive Science and Medicine
 - Germ Cell Biology, Reproductive Endocrinology, Reproductive Tract Biology
- Notable Discoveries and New Frontiers
 - Inhibin, Lactic and Malic Dehydrogenases, Mouse Clock Genes, Zinc Sparks, Uterine Fibroid Mechanisms, Bioengineering for Reproductive Applications
- Interdisciplinary Collaborations and Technologies
 - Meiosis with Biophysics, Egg and Sperm Biology with Chemistry, Reproductive Endocrinology and Infertility with Oncology, Gonad and Reproductive Tract Biology with Bioengineering, and more!

EDUCATION

- Master of Science in Reproductive Science and Medicine
- PhD – Reproductive Science Cluster
- Clinical Fellowships in Reproductive Medicine
- Outreach, Awards & Scholarships, Career Hub, Resources

PROGRAMMING

- 30+ year tradition of Weekly Reproductive Research Updates
- Monthly Translational Lectures in Reproductive Science
- Career Catalyst Series
- Reproductive Science and Medicine Summit
- Illinois Symposium on Reproductive Science (ISRS)

Visit Planit-Purple for our schedule of events!

Stay Connected!

crs@northwestern.edu
Facebook.com/NUCenterforReproSci
@NU_CRS

Northwestern

The Center for Reproductive Science
 Northwestern University
 645 N. Michigan Ave., Suite 630
 Chicago, IL 60611
www.crs.northwestern.edu